Arabs and Jews Promise to Stop Shooting Today

Some Sources Believe Both Sides Also Have Submitted Terms for Peace

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

Jerusalem, May 8 (AP)—Arabs and Jews agreed today to stop shooting in the Holy City. Some sources believe both sides also have submitted terms for peace through the United Nations.

An official British communiqué last night said Arab military leaders ordered their forces to cease fire in the Holy City at noon today. The Eastern Standard Times today.

A Jewish Agency spokesman commented: "The moment the Arabs stop firing we shall stop shooting."

The British statement said Arab leaders agreed to the "truce" at a two-hour meeting in Jerusalem yesterday with Gen. Sir Alan Gordon, Commander-in-Chief, Palestine high commissioner.

The session was attended by a United Nations truce commission composed of the chiefs of staff of the United States, France and Belgium.

The Jewish spokesman recalled a letter from the Agency to the United Nations on April 9 in reply to the offer for a truce.

The letter said: "The Arabs cannot accept the offer and we shall do so. The truce is a matter of life and death for the Jews in Palestine."

But it was expected in some quarters that the truce would be a temporary one, and that the fighting would resume as soon as the truce expired.

At the time of the truce, the fighting was at its fiercest, and the truce was expected to last only a few days.

In the Holy City, the truce was expected to last only a few days.

Local Man Among 22 Underlings Who Pay $1,000

Schenectady, N. Y., May 8 (AP)—

Twenty-six men arrested in a huge lottery smash were fined $17,000 yesterday, and four ring-leaders were warned that their suspended prison sentences would take effect "if you step out of line again."

The principals were put on probation for five years.

Supreme Court Justice Willard L. Best found Samuel Baker of Niskayuna, $10,000.

The penalty was $5,000 each for Joseph Karp and Stanley S. Foreman of Schenectady, and Anthony Mauns of Port Crane.

In addition, each of the four drew a suspended sentence of five to 10 years on five felony charges of contriving a lottery. All pleaded guilty Tuesday.

22 Fined $1,000 Each

Twenty-two others, who had pleaded guilty of misdemeanors, were fined $1,000 each.

"You may think you're getting off easy, and I think perhaps you are," the judge told these men.

"But it's not because you're smart. It's because you're lucky."

The 26 were rounded up April 26 in State Police raids in 16 counties. Police said the lottery, centered in the Schenectady area, handled $25,000,000 a year in statewide operations. It was a gamble on U. S. Treasury balance figures.

All the fines imposed yesterday were paid within the hour.

Baker's covered five felony counts for which the other leaders were not penalized. The indictments, to which the four pleaded included 18, felony and three misdemeanor charges.

"I want to make sure that you will not again engage in a lottery or other similar gambling enterprises," Justice Best said.

"If you step out of line again (the prison) sentences are going to be carried out."

The other 22 indicted originally faced the same charges, but these were reduced. Their fines covered two misdemeanor charges.

The 22 men were "an essential part" of the lottery, Best said, but not, in his opinion, "vicious criminals."

Those sentenced for misdemeanors:

Howard Knapp, Scotia; George Anderson, Lewiston; Frank Avagliata, Corning; C. H. Briden, Baker, Jamestown; Ralph Cook, Newburgh; Thomas Foster, Cortland; Philip D. Metta, and Joseph Gauriner, Syracuse; William English, Watertown; Carl Galusha, Catskill; Clarence Hoffman, Ithaca.

No Solution Is In Sight to Stop Palestine Struggle

12-Nation Group Sets Schedule Calling for Talks Today on Issue

Lake Success, May 8 (AP)—An air of pessimism and futility prevailed today at United Nations headquarters over failure to solve the Palestine problem.

Delegates have less than one week to meet the crisis and no solution is in sight. The British insist they will give up their mandate rule at midnight next Friday—leaving a government vacuum in the embattled Holy Land.

In a desperate effort to do something to bridge the gap, a 12-nation working group scheduled sessions today. Emergency meetings may continue through the weekend. This group has set up in the current special Palestine session of the U. N. assembly.

It was understood that intensified efforts to find a neutral mayor for Jerusalem—one step in an overall peace program—so far have been fruitless. Britain yesterday asked the assembly to help find a man acceptable to the Jews and Arabs when a search failed in Palestine.

There were some hopes last night that agreement might be reached on a representative of the American Friends Service committee. But a high source said that nominee had been unacceptable.

Arthur Crooch Jones, British Colonial Secretary, last night called for a small, emergency U. N. agency to carry on ordinary government in Palestine after the British leave. Addressing the 12-nation group, he rejected any idea of using force and said the agency should have limited powers.

The British thus would depend on the Jews and Arabs to agree to stop fighting.

"I'd get away completely from the trusteeship idea," the colonial secretary told the committee in discussing the American plan for a U. N. interim trusteeship.

This apparently meant that stripped-up links between American and British officials here have failed to bring the two powers together on a solution.

It was announced that Pablo Azcarate of the U. N. staff would go to Jerusalem Sunday to act as a top U. N. official for the truce commission.

Stockhandlers Union, said a strike had been called to start at 12:01 a. m. Tuesday. Some 400 members are employed at the world's largest stockyard here.

The strike was called after a breakdown of wage negotiations. The union had asked that "substantial" wage increases had been offered 3½ cents.

A strike deadline—12:01 a. m. next Friday—was set by union representatives at a meeting in Sioux City, Ia., yesterday for about 2,000 stockhandlers in six cities. The six cities which would be affected are Sioux City, Fargo, N. D., South St. Paul, Minn., Fort Worth, Tex., St. Joseph, Mo., and Milwaukee.

Members of the C.I.O.-U.P.W. and independent plants in Fort Dodge and Estherville, Ia., will join the meat strike at 12:01 a. m. Tuesday, the regional C.I.O. office in Des Moines announced. Thus far the strike has been confined to plants of the major packers. The walkout will affect about 900 workers in the Fort Dodge plant, and about 125 at Estherville.

Meat Packers in 9 More Cities to Join in Strike

Chicago, May 8 (AP)—C.I.O. Union Packinghouse Workers in nine cities have voted to strike next week, joining the 100,000 meat packing employees who struck March 16, in a dispute over wages.

There appeared no prospect of an early settlement of the meat walkout and union spokesmen said the new strikes by stockhandlers in the nine cities will tighten the work stoppage.

Federal mediators had scheduled new peace talks here today between representatives of the union and the four major packers: Swift, Armour, Cudahy and Wilson. However, Swift and Armour said they would not attend and Cudahy and Wilson said they were ready for the new talks aimed at settling the wage dispute. The union has rejected an offer of nine cents hourly pay raise. It asked 20 cents.

U. S. Lifelines Threatened if Rail Strike Prolongs; Feeling Is Truman May Seize Roads Before Big Walkout

Hopes Dim On Settling Of Strike

Government May Ask 20 Days More for Time to Discuss All Points

Tuesday Deadline

Truman Will Not Take Over Unless All Other Means Fail

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The White house was reported today ready to ask a 20-day rail strike postponement as hopes dimmed of settling the six-month old dispute without resorting to government seizure.

New peace talks were called by top White House advisers in an effort to end the tight deadlock between the carriers and three labor unions. Informants reporting the possible postponement request said it might be issued if no agreement is reached by May 11.

Government seizure of the railroads was expected only if everything else failed.

As settlement efforts continued, six railroads imposed embargo orders on foods, poultry and livestock. At least 54 other lines planned the same step to avoid spoilage of strike-stranded cargo.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman called management negotiators to private conference and it was indicated he also will meet again with heads of the three rail brotherhoods before Tuesday strike deadline.

Both Sides Hold

Neither side has budged and close observers felt that President Truman might seize the country's main rail system Monday if no peace plan is sighted by then.

With the industry under federal control the government could apply for a court injunction to stop the threatened strike. It did that in 1946 to stop a coal strike called by John L. Lewis.

But seizure still would leave Mr. Truman with the problem of an unsettled labor dispute. That would have to be solved before the industry could be turned back to its owners.

On this score, there was a possibility that if the seizure occurs Mr. Truman might call back a McArthur might headed by William E. Leiserson to "clarify" its recent report.

The board recommended a 15½ cent hourly pay boost for the three unions involved—the Brotherhoods of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen and Engineers, and Switchmen.

Called It Inadequate

That was the same pay raise accepted last fall by 17 other rail brotherhoods but the three rejected it as inadequate.

However, a number of proposed changes in rail operating rules desired by the three brotherhoods were discussed in Leiserson's report.

These included (1) time and-a-half pay for workers for Sunday and holiday work (they get straight time pay now) and (2) pay for time spent on the job before and after train runs (they get paid now only for time spent on the run).

It was indicated that these or other rules changes could be the basis for a settlement. It was hardly expected that the industry's wage increase pattern would be disturbed.

Two Meetings

Steelman met twice yesterday with Alvanley Johnston of the Locomotive Engineers, David B. Robertson of the Firemen and Engineers, and A. J. Glover of the Switchmen.

These meetings and another with W. T. Farley, president of the Association of American Railroads, ended "without definite results," the White House said.

If a strike takes place, army and civilian planes may be used to deliver the mails.

A rail shutdown also would cripple coal production. John D. Bates, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, said lack of coal cars would close the mines almost immediately.

The mines, closed for weeks by the recent coal strike, were reopened only three weeks ago.

New York, May 8 (AP)—A five-week work stoppage in this city's fur industry was ended officially today after the union and manufacturers called wage-scale and security agreements.

Former Education Trustee Is Dead

Charles Weiss Served During Building of High School

Charles Weiss, a former well-known and highly respected resident of this city, died Friday at St. Luke's Hospital in New York.

He was born in this city, the son of the late Alderman John Weiss and Christina Flick Weiss. He graduated in 1901 from Kingston Academy. Following graduation he entered the employ of H. E. Weber where he continued to work until 1908 at which time he and his late brother John entered the plumbing supply business on lower Broadway.

Mr. Weiss served as a member of the Kingston Board of Education and was a member of that board at the time of the construction of Kingston High School. He was a member of the Elks Club and of the Knights of Columbus. His only survivor is his step-mother, Mrs. Rose Weiss of New York.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock in the Holy Name Church, West 96th street, New York, on Monday where a high Mass of requiem will be held for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery, Kingston, Monday afternoon following the arrival of the 2:25 New York train.

Decides to Pay After Bad Getaway

An automobile accident causing slight damage Friday afternoon resulted in a chase between a Model T Ford and a 1930 Buick, but ended to the satisfaction of both parties, according to the police.

Frederick Bechtold of 78 Abel street, owner of the Buick, reported to police at 4:05 p. m. Friday that his car, parked at the time on South Prospect street near Park street, had been struck and its bumper broken by the Ford, which he said continued on without stopping.

Bechtold immediately got in his car and gave pursuit, catching up with the man in the Ford at the intersection of Sterling and Cedar streets, he said. The man refused to give his name or show his license, and jumped back into the car and drove away. Bechtold said.

However, after the identity of the man had been established through a check of the license number, he agreed to pay for the damage, and both parties were satisfied, the police said.

Would Go to P.S.C.

New York, May 8 (AP)—Higher pay for 7,300 C.I.O. transit workers here today awaited an official O.K. from authorities on the application of six privately-owned bus lines to increase their fares.

The Third Avenue Transit Corp., the city's largest privately owned bus line with 1,800,000 passengers, announced yesterday it had requested Mayor William O'Dwyer and the Board of Estimate to forfeit the city's rights to pass on the fare increase and enable the firm to go directly to the state Public Service Commission. The line said "months" probably could be saved by direct petition to the P.S.C.

Says Road Project Will Damage Farm

Cobleskill Resident Asks State Be Restrained From Widening

Sharon J. Mauchs of Cobleskill sought Friday to have the Supreme Court restrain the State of New York from "invading" his premises on Route 7, between Cobleskill and Central Bridge where the state seeks to widen the highway by the construction of three foot strips of concrete on each side of the present 18-foot roadway.

Mauchs contends that his farm will be seriously damaged if the state takes the land and he seeks to restrain the state from taking the land, claiming "irreparable damage" will result from the widening.

The state contends that the widening operation will be confined to the bounds of the original highway right of way and William C. Rutland was sworn and gave testimony to that end, testifying from maps and other data. The state also contends that further the state is financially able to pay any claim for damages which may result to the Mauchs property and that the restraining order should not be granted.

Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth before whom the matter was heard took the papers and reserved decision.

More Than 70 Group Airforce Needed If Russia Is Ready

By HOWARD DOBSON

Washington, May 8 (AP)—A congressional committee said today it believes "the Soviet Union may now be willing to risk a showdown" with the United States.

To forestall such a "rash decision" by Russian leaders, the House Armed Services committee said this country should strengthen its ground and sea forces through a manpower draft. And it added:

"A 70-group air force is not a substitute for Selective Service."

Both the Senate and House have approved expanding the nation's air arm from 35 to 70 groups over the next five years. But as yet they have taken no action on President Truman's request for a temporary draft and Universal Military Training.

The House group's formal report—accompanied by a stinging dissent by a five-man minority—was issued as Senate Republican leaders confirmed the top priority they have given all defense legislation between now and the June 19 adjournment date.

Want Young Men

The committee majority recommended prompt passage of a bill by Chairman Andrews (R-N.Y.) to draft men from 19 through 25 for two years' service. The committee approved the measure 28 to 5 last Monday.

The majority report's warning of possible Russian showdown intentions coincided with a statement by Gen. Jonathan Wainwright that the Russians would launch an all-out war only as a "last resort."

In a letter to Republican congressional leaders urging the return of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to testify on preparedness plans, Wainwright said:

"He (MacArthur) knows only too well that the present enemies of United States and our world desire first to accomplish their objective of the destruction of our constitutional democracy by means of revolution and civil war."

That Dear Mother of Ours. Long are we lapsed her name She fussed and planned our coming. Carefully chose our name to be And waited patiently our homing. Mother welcomed the best event, With prayers of thanksgiving, Thrilled with pride in sharing The heavenly art of creating.

Prompted by maternal instincts, She found strength and courage To introduce her Babe to her life, Using all her knowledge. With jealous-love and tender cares, Sweet lullabies and fond imaginings, Angel-like she nursed us along Safely through life's beginnings. With her Motherly faith increasing, With each breath that her Babe grows, Time alone will imbricate the glow!

When doubts cloud her Babe's life, And misfortune strikes her wild, Mother stands by with hope eternal, Faithfully protecting her child. Every day is MOTHER'S DAY. For that Dear Mother of ours! It behooves us to do our best To imbricate her Motherly hours! That Mother of ours angel-like, Appreciates anything we give! Thoughtful gifts, filial-love, Keep alive her incentive to live!

Confession? — Ask The Man Who Goes There!

Catholics go to Confession to a priest for one reason only: to obtain divine forgiveness for their sins.

But why, you ask, go to a priest? Why not confess our sins directly to God?

Ask the man who goes to Confession and here's what he will tell you: Sin is an offense against God. It must be forgiven by God. It is God, not man, who determines how forgiveness must be obtained. Christ plainly pointed that out when He empowered His Apostles and their successors to forgive sins or to refuse forgiveness.

"Whose sins you shall forgive," Christ said, "they are forgiven them; whose sins you shall retain, they are retained." (John 20:21-23). Thus Christ authorized the Apostles, and their successors, to pardon or to deny pardon as they judged the sinner worthy or unworthy. To do this they had to know what they were forgiving... the secret dispositions of the sinner... his sorrow and willingness to repair the wrong done to his neighbor by his sins. Who could make this known but the sinner himself—and what is this but Confession?

But Confession—the Sacrament of Penance—is only one of the seven Sacraments Christ left in His Church. Yes, seven—no more and no less! Christ's religion is not merely a message to be accepted, but a life to be lived—from the cradle to the grave. Christ's seven Sacraments are the answer to man's seven basic needs.

Man is born, but he needs to be reborn a Christian in the Sacrament of Baptism. He is nourished, but he needs Christian nourishment in Holy Communion, the Sacrament of the Eucharist. He grows, but he needs to grow and be strengthened in Christian life by the Sacrament of Confirmation. He is cured of disease, but he needs a remedy for sin, so destructive of Christian life, and this he finds in the Sacrament of Penance.

Man lives in society which needs officials to promote the common good—and for his life in the Church, he finds officials provided by the Sacrament of Orders. He perpetuates the human race in marriage, which Christ made the Sacrament of Matrimony. And at death, he needs consolation and strength for the last dread hour which he finds in the Last Anointing—the Sacrament of Extreme Unction.

Would you like to know more about each of the seven Sacraments? How they can help you to meet the seven basic needs of your life? Then write today for a free pamphlet which gives important information concerning them. Ask for Pamphlet No. 3-N.

Music Group Studies Tchaikovsky's Works

Music Appreciation Group of the Y.W.C.A.'s Women's Club met with Mrs. Alfred Schmid, 42 Johnston avenue Thursday afternoon. The program about Tchaikovsky was under the direction of Mrs. Robert Dixley and Mrs. Helen Berger.

Mrs. Dixley noted that the composer was born in an iron mining town in the Ural Mountains, the son of a mining engineer. Although at first he studied law, he was always a lover of music. At 21 he began the serious study of music in the Conservatory in St. Petersburg near Leningrad. The work and domestic troubles caused a serious break in his health but he was driven by a creative urge that gave him no rest.

His scores of songs were well received bringing to this period the well-known and often heard Swan Maiden, Nutcracker Suite, Romeo and Juliet Fantasy, and 1812 Overture. Gladys Swarthout's recordings of "None But the Lonely Heart" and "Prayer of Dedication" were heard by the group, also the Waltz Serenade and 1812 Overture.

Mrs. Berger dealt with the composer's orchestral music through which somewhat late in life came his greatest fame. She touched upon the influence of his patroness the Baroness Von Meck, whom he never saw but who gave him the sympathy and encouragement lacking in his home.

All his symphonies were scarcely appreciated in his life time because of Tchaikovsky's shoddy conducting, she explained, how ever other conductors have given them the interpretation they deserve. Most audiences today prefer the 4th and 6th symphonies. They all show gayety and melancholy, shade and light, strange varied rhythms, and a trace of strong color, all national traits of Russian people. The New York Philharmonic's recordings of the 6th Symphony was enjoyed by the group.

Mrs. Ralph Harper and Mrs. Boyd N. Williams were hostesses at tea. Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw poured.

The next meeting May 20, will be at the Y.W.C.A. instead of the Governor Clinton as scheduled. Mrs. Charles Terwilliger will act as hostess.

Another impressive concert was given by the A Cappella Choir of Kingston High School as the first of the annual programs was presented at the school auditorium Friday night. Strict discipline was evident. Each member of the choir adhered to every direction of the conductor, Leonard Stine. The concert will be repeated tonight.

The audience expects perfection from this group which has been given top ratings in high school competitions for a number of years. Perfection is there.

One of the main features of the concert, however, was the two piano team of Robert Cooper, accompanist for the choir; and Roy Boldt, assistant accompanist. Both are to be commended for their parts in furnishing piano backgrounds for the singing; but most of all for the refreshing group of two piano numbers. These young men showed a striking unity of interpretation, ability, and feeling for the music. Their selections were Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring, J. S. Bach; Solfeigetto, P. E. Bach, and three Brahms waltzes. As a change, from the usual group of songs, a duet and quartet was used with four solos. Betty and Donald Sweeney sang the ever popular "Will You Remember from Rumburg's "Maytime"; Jacqueline Akeley, Joan Wells, Burwell Decker and Alex Rowland sang a quartet for How Lovely Are the Messengers from Mendelssohn's St. Paul. The soloists were Peter Gannon who sang "Where E'er You Walk, Handel; Harold Boice, Down in the Forest, Ronald; Harry Koch, Beauty's Eyes, Tosti; and Marilyn Kuntz, The Cry of Rachel, Salter.

The soloists were elected by their fellow choir members this year. All are talented, some having more training and experience than the others.

Tonight's solo group will be somewhat different. As listed the program will include Marjorie Hinkley and John Rich in a duet, Calm as the Night, Gotze; Chester Miller, My Lady Walks in Loveliness, Charles; Elizabeth Allen, Music I Heard with You, Hagerman; quartet, (the same as Friday night), Joan Lee Eyck, Elizabeth's Prayer from Tannhauser, Wagner; Donald Laidlaw, Border Ballad, Cowen.

The entire choir program was solemn and almost entirely of a religious nature. The singers were at their best in the first group of religious music. The moving parts and counterpoint were especially clear and beautiful. Chorus in Let Thy Holy Presence by Tchaikovsky-Koff-Holy were outstanding.

The spirituals displayed the choir's ability to give clear diction and effective shading. Again the parts were interwoven and controlled. The bass section had im-

MOTHER'S DAY
So Mother is going to have a new blouse. Mother will find new gloves at her place at the breakfast table. Daughter is ready to get the Sunday dinner, or Father will take the family out. This is Mother's Day on which the family unite to do her honor.
Two kinds of mothers do not deserve these marks of esteem. One is the kind who is preened if the family forgets the day or falls in any respect to pay tribute to the quality she expects. The other is the martyr mother who spoils her children by doing everything herself, letting them run over her and grow up into selfish, growing, grumpy and greedy adults.
But the mother who is poised; who is loving and humorous and understanding; who does her full share and expects the children to do theirs, not as a driver, but as a leader of a group which does things together in a fair and friendly manner; who maintains a happy home in which duty and privilege, right and responsibility are kept in even balance, where conscience counts and love spreads out from the family to the world—that mother deserves all she gets and more. She is the backbone of the nation. No one should forget that on this day and all days she should be loved and honored because she is worthy of honor.

There are always compensations. If any American city were hit by an atomic bomb, at least it would no longer have worry over the parking problem.

What the present world needs is a "cease fire pact" that will stay packed.

LIMITED DRAFT BILL

As things look now, we are to have selective service without universal military training. At least a leading House Republican says that his branch of Congress has made up its mind, and that the majority would prefer no draft at all to the Senate-proposed combination of draft and U.M.T.
This decision seems to be the result of politics, urgency, honest conviction and honest doubt. The opposition to U.M.T. has been mainly political. It has put some of the most conservative congressmen in the company of Henry Wallace and the Communists—and, under ordinary circumstances, most of those congressmen would rather be found dead than in such company.

But the opposition to U.M.T. has found quite a number of clergymen and educators in its ranks, along with a good many others. So the men who really hold the reins in the House have bottled up the U.M.T. bill, even if it meant playing the party-line game to do so.

Why, then, does a limited draft bill find so much support? It is more drastic in that it requires two years' continuous service. It will take wage earners and some married men and college students. It will start inductions at 19, which doesn't sidestep all the objections to U.M.T.'s accent on youth.

There seem to be two principal reasons. And in all fairness the non-political one should be put first. Since the passage of the E.R.P. legislation, the tempo of congressional activity has stepped up. Threatening events in Europe seemed to convince all but the most reluctant members that it was time to strengthen ourselves, as well as our neighbors across the Atlantic.

The Marshall Plan was a bold step which enabled the United States, for the first time, to take the initiative against advancing communism. But bold diplomacy needs some strength behind it—at least the minimum strength that military leaders say we require in a peaceful world.

So, many congressmen who not long ago were quibbling over the cost of European aid now seem eager to vote even more than the Administration is asking for military appropriations. And in this mood, it is understandable that they see the need of providing the manpower to fit the appropriations.

On the political side, the draft touches far fewer families than universal training, or some modification of it, would do. There are so many exemptions and deferments as to make one wonder whether there may be

'These Days'
By George E. Sokolsky

MAKE MINE FREEDOM

I saw a movie short, done after the style of Walt Disney, which is humorous, colorful, bright and yet explains why the United States is an excellent place in which to live—in fact a better place than those proletarian heavens that are so widely advertised by the seekers of utopias. The short is called "Make Mine Freedom" and it was prepared by the John S. Productions, Inc.
The reason why I like this short so much and call it to your attention so that if your movie house shows it, you will go to see it, is that it is the first of its kind that is wholly affirmative. It does not apologize for the American civilization; it rather challenges anyone to produce a better one. And while the nine-minute short is full of humor, it nevertheless hits the nail squarely on the head. In this country, we have freedom, and that is worth more than anything else in all this world.
Freedom is fast disappearing in most places. It could disappear here. The other day I was reading the testimony of my friend, Frank Waldrop, of the Washington Times-Herald. Frank is what might be called a zealous banger-inner. He likes to fight for freedom and therefore he went down to lay the FCC low, because the FCC has a way of seeking to limit freedom on the air by holding that those who own radio stations must not use them to express an editorial opinion.

It is all right for a movie actor to interrupt a comedy to read an editorial which his gag-writer prepared on what is right and wrong. It is all right for a commentator to belabor the public with irresponsible editorial opinion that no newspaper in this country would publish. It is all right for an atheist or a Communist or a Republican, Democrat, or Catholic, Protestant or Jew to use radio time to express private opinions for public consumption. But not the owner of the station. By becoming a licensee of the FCC, he has lost his inalienable right to express his mind. I suppose that it would be correct for him to go to somebody else's station to speak his piece, but not on his own.

So Frank Waldrop went down to the FCC and landed this haymaker:
"In the order aforementioned you (FCC) say that a truly free radio cannot be used to advocate the causes of the licensee," and offer in justification the instruction of Congress that you regulate broadcasting "in the public interest, necessity or convenience." How does it serve the public interest, necessity or convenience to forbid the broadcaster the right to be an advocate?"

The trouble with Frank is that he is too logical. The next question he might ask is why Wayne Coy and his colleagues on the FCC give way lengths to the Army, Navy and the State Department, and why from sound people. That might raise a lot of arguments, but I only want to cite this as an example of how vigilant it is necessary for the American people to be if they do not want to lose their freedom.

And that is why I am advertising this nine-minute short, entitled "Make Mine Freedom," which should be shown about the theaters in America. It is propaganda, sure! But good, wholesome comedy, too. And it is the sort of propaganda that parents should take their children to see, because our children need to know beyond doubt that just being an American is a blessing.

And while I am on the movies and invading other columns, I want to announce that next week I shall be taking my show, "The Iron Curtain," the Twentieth Century Fox film that will be running on May 12. If I were running my own newspaper, I would place a free advertisement on Page One advocating that every American see this picture. After you have seen it, you will really grasp what the first problem facing the American people is.

It is refreshing to find something to praise in these days of so much ugliness. Good things are too often passed over.

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M. D.

THREE CLASSES OF SINUS INFLAMMATION

Just a few years ago the treatment of sinusitis—inflammation of the little sinuses or openings adjoining the nose—was by surgery, in which any diseased bone or other tissue or obstruction of any kind was removed. It was found that often too much tissue was removed, including large amounts of the tissue lining the nose.
It is this tissue that filters and warms air going down to the lungs, and also destroys harmful organisms that finally would reach the blood and cause symptoms in various parts of the body. It is for these reasons that less surgery is used today, the emphasis being on restoration rather than removal of diseased tissue.

Formerly the cause of sinusitis was not considered—only treatment to "clear the nose." Today sinusitis is classified as allergic (due to sensitivity to various substances), mechanical (due to blockage of nose), and bacterial (due to various organisms).

Treatment of sinusitis thus means that surgery is needed only in those cases where there is a blockage of a sinus which prevents drainage and prevents the proper ventilation of the sinus. Where there is a blockage and lack of ventilation, the voice becomes flat.

In the "Laryngoscope," Dr. F. J. Putney states that allergic cases first require treatment for the tendency to allergy. This may need various tests for the substance or substances causing the sinus symptoms, and perhaps injections of histamine or other substances to remove the tendency to allergy.
The cases of sinusitis caused by various organisms now are treated successfully by penicillin. Even in cases where the bones of the nose are diseased—osteomyelitis—penicillin is often effective and makes unnecessary the use of surgery. In advanced cases of osteomyelitis, surgery is needed to remove diseased bone and open up drainage.

enough men eligible to provide even the 600-odd thousand additions that the House bill specifies. Yet those exemptions and deferments are probably just and necessary as regards military service—not military training—in time of peace.

That leaves unanswered the question of training a large body of reserves. Some of our wisest citizens insist that, in this unsettled world, our youth should be given military fundamentals for their own protection as well as for the country's.

U.M.T. opponents apparently are willing to gamble, in votes, that such training is not needed, and that, in the space of two years, war will either be upon us or the threat of war will be dispelled. That is a debatable view of the future. But at least we need a draft to get our armed forces up to par, and the good prospect that we shall get it is encouraging.

Drowns in Tank

New York, May 8 (AP)—The body of a 35-year-old operating engineer was found last night floating in the water tank of the Rubel Ice Company plant at 112 Bank street where he was employed. Identified by police as Maurice Paul of 95-11 204th street, Bellerose, L. I., the man apparently became ill while inspecting the tank, fell in and drowned.

The two happiest people at the recent Eastern States regional contract bridge tournament were two youngsters who won the amateur pair championship, Miss Barbara Srenco and Jerome W. Briar of New York City in a field of 100 pairs. It was their first major victory.

Today's hand caused quite a discussion as to the correct technique of play. I think Miss Srenco followed the right line. Sitting North, she was forced to win the opening lead of the three of spades. If the heart and club suits broke she could make 13 tricks, but if the heart suit did not break she might have trouble making her contract.

She led the queen of hearts and followed with the ten. East covered this with the jack, which was a tipoff that the hand would not break well. However, she was playing tournament bridge and had to try for the maximum number of tricks, so she cashed another heart. When West showed out her only hope was to find West with the ace of diamonds. She led the nine of diamonds from dummy. West won with the ace and led a club. Now the contract was safe.

In rubber bridge the diamond suit should be played before cashing the hearts, but Miss Srenco made the right play for tournament bridge and thereby a top score.

So They Say...

If people abroad could see democracy in operation here as we have, things would be much better all over.
—Michael, deposed King of Romania.

It is time to call a halt to the stream of bitter, smearing attacks, indiscriminately made on public servants.
—Dr. Charles E. Merriam, economist.

It is quite clear the Russians do not like our being in Berlin and they are trying to make our position untenable.
—Maj.-Gen. Nevil Brownjohn, British deputy governor of Berlin.

Russia is blocking the return of economic stabilization to Europe. The situation has got to be solved somehow and soon.
—Henry Ford II.

You may be sure that my statement that I was available for any public duty to which I might be called by the American people was not limited to any particular political test.
—Gen. Douglas MacArthur

No Progress Reported
New York, May 8 (AP)—Nothing but a question mark was in evidence today following a wage strategy conference by C.I.O. employees of the General Electric Company. The union has demanded "substantial" but unspecified wage increases and other contract improvements. General Electric rejected the proposed pay hikes. Negotiations have been recessed, subject to a reopening call by either party. The union represents 125,000 G.E. workers.

5 Held in Smuggling
New York, May 8 (AP)—An alleged million-dollar scheme to buy and smuggle diamonds from Europe with illegally bought American gold resulted yesterday in detention of five diamond dealers for grand jury action. The scheme involved buying diamonds in gold-scarce Europe with gold acquired here at $38 an ounce, $3 over the legal rate, the U. S. attorney's office said, adding that "millions of dollars" are involved.

Fly Troops to Alaska
McChord Field, Wash., May 8 (AP)—The air force is moving 500 troops to Alaska by plane—instead of ship—to replace men who have been transferred south, the air force announced yesterday. The Seattle port of embarkation said air force officials there described the air movement as "an expedient method of alleviating the pressing shortages of air force manpower throughout the Alaska Air Command."

Costly Can of Paint
Trenton, N. J., May 8 (AP)—The state of New Jersey today was out $620—because a can of paint was placed on the wrong side of a fence. A highway employee put the can inside a fence beside a rural road. A cow ambled along, ate the paint and promptly died. The state awarded $620 to farmer Stanley Roberts, owner of the cow.

Make Cottage Design Attractive. — Good Balance and Proportions ObtainedSo completely has Cape Cod architecture won the hearts of American home builders that today Cape Cod cottages are common in almost every section of the country. In fact, surveys show the Cape Cod to be the most popular of all American styles. A good example of this type is "The Cheshire," which is presented today by the Architects' Co-Operative Plan Service, Inc.Aside from the "homey" appeal of the Cape Cod, its ease of construction and low first cost entitle it to consideration. The Cheshire possesses these creditable qualities.Should Have 60-Foot Front With outside dimensions of 24-30 feet, this house has a total cubage of 15,200 feet. Addition of the breezeway and garage, as pictured in the accompanying photoand floor sketches, would add 2400 feet to this total. For the best effect, this home should be built on a lot with not less than a 60-foot frontage, preferably one facing the southwest or southeast.Perfect balance and good proportions are essential of the Cape Cod style. Due consideration has been given to these factors in designing The Cheshire. The centre of interest in the front elevation is the pilastered entrance with its stock Colonial door and smallpaned sidelights. In the picture the front door is concealed by a combination storm door, in which glass may be replaced by bronze screening in summer.Balancing the front door, at either side, are double windows.
Copper down-spouts at either end of the house contribute to the sum of balance.Breaking the front roof expanse are three nicely proportioned dormers. The large chimney is set back of the roof ridge and made less conspicuous.In The Cheshire, exterior finish has been used that is appropriate and at the same time pleasing to the eye. Shingled outside walls are stained a delicate gray in imitation of the weathered shingles of the Cape's old homes. White trim and Colonial green window blinds contrast with the mellow gray walls.A small entrance hall lies beyond the front door in which a closed stair rises to the second floor. There is a small coat closet at the right of the stairs. An arched opening at the right looks in on the living room; one at the left on the dining room. A vista through the whole house is thus afforded.Living Room Is Well Lighted.
The living room, 11.6x23 feet, has windows on three exposures which give it abundant light and ventilation. Centred in the long inside wall, between the hallway opening and a door to a rear service hall, is a fireplace in which a simple, stock Colonial mantel may appropriately and economically be used. Good wall space for furniture arrangement is a feature of this room.The dining room, 11.6x12.6 feet, receives light from a double mullion window and also from a window on the garage side of the house.
Use of built-in corner china cabinets, at either side of a swinging door connecting with the kitchen, is possible if owners desire.The kitchen has floor area 10x10 feet. Range and refrigerator could be placed in two corners of the room, at either side of the door to the dining room. The rear outside wall of the room is occupied by working counter and wall cabinets, with a double sink in the centre of the counter, and just under a window opening. Another window, looking out on the breezaway connecting house with garage, could be made into a door if more direct connection between house and garage is desired.The rear service hall between kitchen and living room, connects with a rear entrance to the house.
Stairs to the full basement are reached from this hall and a downstairs lavatory and toilet opens off the hall, convenient to the living room. Rear hall, lavatory, kitchen and upstairs bath all have linoleum floor covering; specifications calling for oak finish floorings in other rooms of the house.Hall Space Minimized
On the second floor hall space is minimized but it is large enough to include a linen closet of good dimensions. A small but well-planned bathroom opens off this hall, located between the two bedrooms.
The bedrooms are of the same size, each measuring 11.6x18 feet.
Both rooms have a single clothes closet and windows on three exposures.
